CARTOHOME

MUNICH, GERMANY 2025

ABOUT THE PROJECT

In a globalized world, where people from different cultures interact, understanding and appreciating cultural diversity becomes crucial. The CartoHome project, initiated by Anna Shelegina, Beatriz Oliveira de Carvalho, and Miguel Solano as part of the international Cartography master's program, serves as a bridge connecting diverse cultural backgrounds through the art of cartography. This publication aims to elaborate the artistic, technological, and scientific nuances of creating a map that is not just a guide but a narrative of belonging – seen through the eyes of 31 students.

The inspiration for CartoHome came from the students' desire to share their personal interpretations of 'home' with peers and the broader Carto community. Rather than focusing on popular tourist spots, this project highlights personal and culturally significant references through more than 254 icons, that illustrate 23 maps.

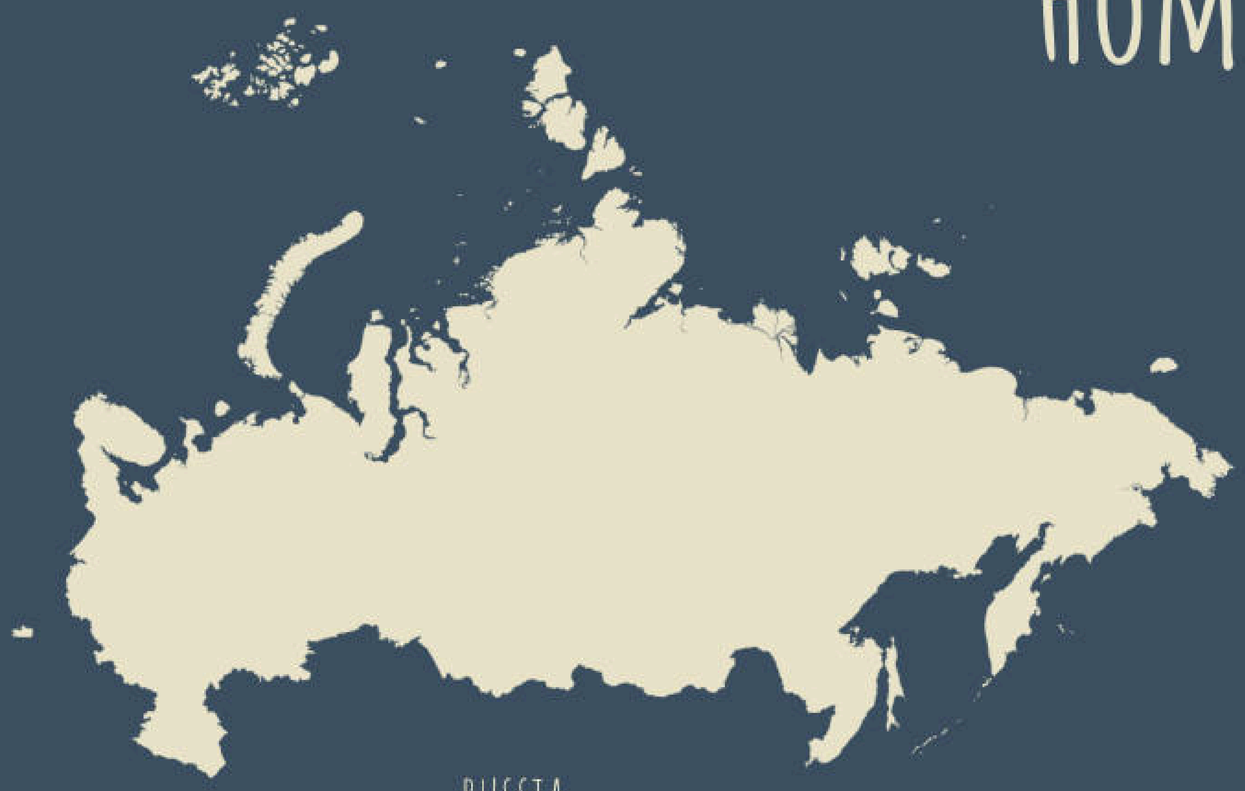

The project began with designing and conducting interviews based on a structured questionnaire to gather significant cultural insights from each student. This data was then artistically transformed into icons representing each student's cultural identity. The process involved detailed sketching and digital illustration.

CartoHome was designed to foster an appreciation for cultural diversity, inspiring future projects within the Carto community. It demonstrates how cartography can be a powerful tool for storytelling and cultural representation, encouraging future intakes to explore their cultural identities through similar projects.

CartoHome shows maps as narratives of home and identity shared by diverse students. This publication captures the essence of the project—from its conception to its realization—and reflects on the power of maps as mediums for cultural expression and community building.

Acknowledgments

We want to first thank all our classmates for sharing about their homes. Your contributions have made this collection of maps possible and helped us learn more about the diverse backgrounds in our group.

We are also very grateful to the European Union for giving us this amazing opportunity to study and grow. This program is helping us improve every day, both as Cartographers and as individuals.

Lastly, we want to thank the PhD candidate Juliane Cron for all her support, guidance, and encouragement.

Dankeschön!
